

'A Word to the Ordering Principle' Fiona Larkin

It comes down to this — the flesh can't forget
a plea a release a prayer

an allowing

let

condenses
all my learned responses, repeated sing-song cadence

incessant supplicant
the litany of let
lights the void in my mouth

let him open his eyes
let him come back home
let me go